

would suggest that the conditions in all stores be investigated.

League Raises Wages.
She said the Consumers' League had been instrumental in getting better wages for the cash girls in one store, where other classes of women employed were better paid than in most similar establishments, and where the conditions of employment were very good.

As the result of the league's efforts, she said some of the stores were now employing educational secretaries for the purpose of developing efficiency among the employees. This was a good thing for both employer and employee, she said, and the business men usually were quick to recognize efficiency and give promotions.

When the committee asked her for information as to the cost of living for women wage earners, she asked permission to furnish statistics compiled by the league in other cities. The conditions in St. Louis were not very different from those existing in other cities, Mrs. January said.

Earnings Depend on Industry.
E. M. Funsten, vice-president of the Funsten Dried Fruit and Nut Co., 1521 Morgan street, testified that from 400 to 500 women and girls were employed at the plant, all of whom are paid by piecework. He said many of the women make as high as $15 to $20 a week, but could not give the committee from memory the names of any employees earning that amount.

He declared the earnings of the women depended on the nimbleness of their fingers and their industry. The average earning is between $8 and $10 a week, he stated, although some earn as low as $4 a week.

Senator Wilson asked him whether all of the girls live at home, and he said he did not know.

"Do you ask them where they live and with whom when they apply for employment?" Wilson asked.

"I do not," he answered.

"Then it doesn't seem to matter with you what the condition of the girls are except that they become nut pickers and machines in your shop," Wilson said.

"We cannot inquire into that," Funsten said. "We give them employment at the shop, and our duty ends there."

Pays Higher Scale, He Says.
Funsten stated that the women are paid 6 cents a pound for nuts picked, and that the scale of wages paid by his firm is larger than that paid in similar plants in other cities.

At the conclusion of his testimony Funsten asked permission to stay to hear the testimony of the four women employees from his plant, but he was not allowed to remain.

Senator Wilson stated that the woman would perhaps feel more at liberty to tell of the actual earnings and conditions if their employer was not present, and asked Funsten to withdraw.

As a further protection to the women, Chairman Kinney suggested that the names of the women witnesses be not made public. Their names were taken and will be placed in the official record later. They were designated by numbers at the hearing.

Says Scale Is Lower.
The first woman employee of the plant testified that she was a married woman who did her own housework, and that she had been working at the Funsten plant a year and a half and has become expert at picking nuts.

She earns from $7 to $9 a week when work is good, she testified, and she said she earned from 75 cents to 80 cents a day for a few weeks when she first began to work.

She testified that the earnings of the women were cut after Christmas when the price per pound for picking nuts was cut to 5 cents from 12 cents. A further decrease to 8 cents had been made since, she said. This decreased the earning capacity of the pickers, she stated.

Doesn't Know Clothing Cost.
The witness testified that she had to pay carfare daily out of her earnings except on days she walked to work. She was asked how her clothing costs weekly, but declared she had not figured that out and could not give an estimate.

In answer to questions by Senator Wilson she stated that in her opinion a woman or girl could not live respectably on $5 a week, nor on $4 a week, if she had no outside help and had to pay board. She said she did not believe a girl could live respectably on $5 a week.

She declared many of the nut pickers made less than $5 a week, working nine hours a day. New beginners make from $3 to $4 a week in that time, she stated.

Places Minimum at $6 or $7.
The next witness also said she is married. She stated she now earns from $7 to $10 a week when work is steady. She is an expert picker, she said.

When asked what amount a woman must earn to pay her expenses, including board, and live respectably, she declared she did not believe she could live on less than $6 or $7 a week, and that would require strict economy.

Lunches for 10 Cents.
The third girl of those from the nut company testified that she earned $10 to $12 a week and supported herself. She said that she bought her lunches at a restaurant across the street for 15 and 16 cents.

"What can you get for 10 cents?" one of the committee asked.

"You can get a pork chop or beef-steak lunch, and for 10 cents you can get more than you can eat," the girl answered.

She said she usually bought her groceries and meats for her breakfast and supper, and estimated that it cost her 10 cents a week.

"What would be the lowest that a girl could live on?" Senator Whitehead asked.

"A girl can live very well, have most of the things she wants, and live respectably on $6 a week," she said.

As the girl left the stand she said she had lost her train by coming as a witness, and asked what she was to get for it. The committee said she ought to be paid for her time, and promised to take the matter up in executive session and determine whether witnesses would be paid.

Cost of Clothes.
The fourth witness was a married woman, living at home with her husband. She said she worked in the nut picking factory to earn extra money to help her husband out, as they had no children. She said her husband earned $15 a day, and that she earned from $5 to $7 a week picking nuts.

"I don't consider myself a good nut picker," she said. "If the nuts are real good, I can make from $1.35 to $1.45 a day."

She estimated that her clothes, consisting of one suit at $14, and such shirt waists and skirts as she needed for the different seasons, cost her from $25 to $30 a year. She thought $50 a year was ample for clothes.

For a girl who made her own living, she expressed the opinion, based upon her own experience and observation, that $1 a week was the lowest wage on which a girl could live.

She runs the business. "Now," said Senator Wilson, "you have answered all the committee's questions with much intelligence, and there is one other question I would like to ask you. You do not have to answer it unless you wish. How much money does your husband give you out of his wages to help you out? Of course he gives you some, but will you tell the committee how much?"

"Who, me?" exclaimed the witness. "Why, me—I manage the money."

All the members of the committee laughed. As the witness left the stand she said she did not consider that there was another place in St. Louis where she could earn money so easily, or where she could be under the supervision of more accommodating foremen and forewomen than in the nut company's factory.

Living Expenses Estimated.
Dr. Mangold was called, and gave the committee some general information as to wages conditions, and the cost of living. He said that two St. Louis boarding houses, conducted on a philanthropic basis, charged $3.75 and $5 a week for room and board. That a girl ought to have $75 a year for clothes, 50 cents a week for medical attention, 50 cents a week for laundry, and that all the incidental expenses over and above board and lodging was about $10 a week.

Only one-fourth of the working women in St. Louis were "adrift," Dr. Mangold said. By "adrift" he said he meant girls and women away from home, and absolutely dependent upon their own work for a living. The other 75 per cent of the women workers had some help from some member of their family, he said.

Senator Whitehead of St. Mary's said that the testimony of the morning session was a revelation to him.

"We were told," he said, "that the nut pickers were the poorest paid women workers in the city. They have testified that they earn $10 to $12 a week. This seems to me like a good showing for St. Louis. I am surprised to hear they earn as much as they do."

Witness Tell of Dynamite 'Plant' at Lawrence Strike has turned State's evidence, gave a similar version of the disposition of the dynamite in Breen's room, but denied that he knew the packages contained dynamite. He declared that Breen told him only that it was "juice."

Sticks in Small Bundles.
Breen saw the dynamite sticks wrapped in small bundles, but did not see Collins until later. "Collins knew what I was going to do," said the witness, "because I had told him at the saloon in Boston that we were going to place dynamite around Lawrence."

HUSBAND TO COUNT TEN WHEN ANGRY; SUITS DISMISSED

He and Mrs. Henschen, Who Asked Divorce, Make Agreement on Reconciliation.

Hereafter, if Arthur L. Henschen, 30 years old, does not like the beans that his wife serves at dinner, he will, the very moment that a single bean offends him, count ten before letting his anger take physical direction towards Mrs. Henschen, 19 years old.

This is the leading provision, Mrs. Henschen says, in the verbal articles of agreement under which they have become reconciled and because of which she dismissed her suit for divorce and he his cross-bill, Tuesday. They have gone to housekeeping again at 1821 Grattan street.

The Henschens eloped to an Illinois town two years ago, but were prevented from marrying by the young man's mother, who followed them. A little later they were married at Clayton.

They have a baby eight months old, and it was shortly after the birth of the baby that Mrs. Henschen sued for divorce. She charged that her husband threw knives and forks at her and threatened to throw a milk bottle at her.

Now, under the articles of agreement, he will not even reach for the milk bottle until he has fairly counted ten. And even if he does reach for it after counting the ten, she will have kept score on the count and will have lots of time to get to another part of the house where the bottle cannot reach her, if her husband should decide to throw it after counting the ten.

Wanted to Go Back.
No silent counts will go. If Henschen does not count aloud the must count at least in a manner sufficiently obvious to give warning.

"I wanted to go back to him," Mrs. Henschen told a Post-Dispatch reporter Wednesday, "for the sake of our baby and also because I love him. But I never would have agreed to it if he had not agreed to count ten. His only trouble is his impulsive temper. He wants to throw something before he gives himself a chance to think. Now that he has to count ten he will get a chance to think and then, I am sure, he will not throw anything."

Commission Man's Son.
Henschen is a son of Ernest Henschen, president of the Henschen-Gorman Commission Co. Mrs. Ernest Henschen Wednesday told a Post-Dispatch reporter that she and her husband had opposed the marriage of their son with all their power, but that later they had tried to help the young couple.

"We drove up to Oak street, where one bundle was left at Asa's. (The tailor shop of a Syrian). "Then we went to 75 Lawrence street, where I told him to put a bundle in an Italian printing shop. The place was closed and no dynamite was left there."

The reason Breen selected the printing shop was because it was in the center of a district where the strikers and the police had had frequent clashes, he said.

Examined by Daniel H. Cookley, counsel for Atteaux, Breen said that he never conspired with Wood, Atteaux or Pittman to injure any persons or property.

Reported "Finds" to Police.
The witness then telephoned Inspector Rooney of the Lawrence police that he had located two places where dynamite was hidden.

The next morning, according to Breen, he asked Collins whether he had placed "that other bundle." Collins replied in the negative, but on being told to do so by Breen, promised to place it, and at once. Later he said he had placed it, whereupon Breen obliged him to show him where, and Collins pointed out De Pratto's cobbler shop in Lawrence street.

After saying he was convicted last May, Breen testified that he met Atteaux and told him he needed more money, his expenses having been heavy. No sum was mentioned by either man, but a few days later Breen received by special delivery an envelope containing four $50 bills. This was delivered to him at his office in Lawrence.

Breen, who was a member of the Lawrence School Committee when the dynamite was found, was fined $500 in the Essex County Court several months ago upon conviction of unlawfully hiding the explosive.

"I think there is no other blood medicine equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have used it every spring for twelve years. There is something about Hood's Sarsaparilla which other medicines lack. KNIFELESS' CANCER CURES

Surgical Operations Without Cutting Said to Be Successful.

NEW ORLEANS, May 21.—Announcement that half a dozen "knifeless" surgical operations here in the city hospital have been successful was made today. Most of the cases treated were cancerous growth of the sarcoma type.

In one instance a 90-pound tumor was removed from a man's stomach by the use of the "knifeless" method, and predilection. The growths disappeared as the quantity of toxin injected was increased.

Bill Fixes Lowest Pay for Women in St. Louis at $7.50

Springfield, Ill., May 21.—The minimum wage bill prepared by the Senate committee investigating the wages of women and girls was introduced today by Senator Juhl. A fight was precipitated when Juhl undertook to have the bill advanced to second reading.

With the upward still at its height, O'Hara ordered a division on the question, and amid cries from Senators Madigan and Denver of "pretty handy with the gavel," Senator Harburt's motion to refer the bill to the Labor Committee prevailed, 38 to 0.

Among the salient features of the bill are the following provisions: Fixes $7.50 as a minimum weekly wage compensation until the Wage Commission shall have fixed a minimum wage under the act.

Fixes a fine of not less than $5 for the first violation and a jail sentence of from 30 days to one year for repeated violations.

Apprentices may be paid less than the minimum wage provided by law for a period not exceeding six months.

No one shall be permitted to serve twice as an apprentice in the same trade or occupation.

CONGRESSMAN WHO MADE A 'WAR' TALK TO CONFINE FUTURE REMARKS TO LAND OWNERSHIP.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—President Wilson today sent for Representative Sisson of Mississippi and urged him not to make any speech that would offend the sensibilities of Japan.

Sisson, who recently made a "war speech," had a 20 minutes' conference with the President, during which he assured him that in a speech he will make Friday he would limit himself to an argument on alien land ownership.

That was the House version of the conference, though Sisson himself declined to make any comment, merely saying he would speak Friday.

The President is known to be anxious about discussion in Congress at this stage of the Japanese question, especially in view of the observations on racial discrimination.

It is indicated at the White House that the American note just sent and the tenor of future exchanges will be to assure Japan that the majority of Americans have a genuine respect for the achievement and character of her people.

Public expressions which might give an opposition impression are regarded at the White House, particularly at this time, as seriously embarrassing the negotiations between the State Department and the Japanese Ambassador.

Japanese Receive American Reply to Original Protest.
By Associated Press.

TOKYO, Japan, May 21.—The Japanese Foreign Office has received and is studying the reply of the United States to Japan's original protest against the California alien land bill. It declares that, by agreement with Washington, the document will not be made public.

The officials make no comment on the subject, and no statement as to whether it is satisfactory.

The Japanese public apparently is awaiting information before expressing its opinion on the American reply. In the meantime the press reiterates that the question goes deeper than the ownership of land or the making of treaties and that it is racial discrimination which must be wiped out by mutual education and understanding and the fusion of ideas.

High Temper Not Same as Jealousy.
Says Mrs. Cabanne

the effect that her husband had a jealous disposition.

"I made oath to that statement," said the witness in response to the morning's question, "but I think there is a difference between jealousy and temper. Jealousy takes on many forms, but it goes not necessarily follow that a man who is subject to unreasonable jealousy is high-tempered."

Mrs. Cabanne was excused from the witness stand after Attorney John S. Leahy, for the defendants, moved that the testimony regarding Cabanne's alleged jealousy be stricken from the record.

Price Tolls of Warrant.
Monroe Price, one of the defendants, was the next witness called. He said he was not acquainted with any of the other parties to the suit, with the exception of Eugene Dreyer, until May 16 of last year when he accompanied Cabanne to the home of Justice Moore where a peace warrant was sworn out against Mrs. Mangler.

"I had just returned from a trip and my wife and I were spending the evening on the front porch of the Dreyer home when Cabanne drove up in his machine," said Price. "Cabanne called Dreyer aside and Dreyer afterward asked me if I wanted to take a little ride."

"I got into the machine after being introduced to Cabanne, but at that time I did not know where we were going. Bingle was in the machine when Dreyer and I got in. I had never met him before, either. We drove to the Page boulevard police station and Cabanne had a whispered conversation there with the captain, while Dreyer, Bingle and I stood aside smoking."

"After leaving the station we drove to Justice Moore's home on Russell avenue and I took no part in the conversation there. Moore took us to his office and afterward drew up a warrant and told Cabanne the cost would be $15. Cabanne did not have sufficient money, so Dreyer and I each lent him $5. Later we stopped off at a cafe on Hamilton avenue, and Cabanne borrowed $10 from a friend and paid us back."

The testimony about the loan of $10 was brought out by the defense to refute Mrs. Mangler's charge that the defendants had made up a fund between them to prosecute her.

DECLARES PRIEST HOLDS A PART OF WOMAN'S ESTATE

Normandy Cousin of Late Mary Reilly Files Information in Clayton Probate Court.

After trying in vain to solve what she believes to be the mystery of her cousin Mary Reilly's estate, and following a search of St. Louis and St. Louis County trust companies, Mary Murnane of Normandy filed an affidavit in the Probate Court at Clayton Wednesday in which she says she has information that Father Patrick Dooley, pastor of St. Bridget's Church, has possession of funds belonging to the estate.

Probate Judge Shackelford issued a citation summoning Father Dooley to appear in court June 2 and tell what he knows of the estate.

Mary Reilly for many years lived on Wash street in St. Bridget's Parish. She died Aug. 9, 1911, and Public Administrator Trolle took charge of the estate. Two days later a will was found and filed at Clayton and the estate was taken out of Trolle's hands.

The will provided that $500 should be used for funeral expenses. To her cousin, Thomas Leonard, she bequeathed $100 and to her cousin, Mary Murnane, she left $100 and whatever life insurance might be still in force. The remainder of the estate was to go to another cousin, Kate Joyce of Normandy. All of the heirs were in St. Louis County and the Trust Company of St. Louis County at Clayton was made executor.

Tuesday the company, at the end of the legal two-year period of administration, filed an inventory showing that the estate was valued at $148.

Mary Murnane was surprised when she heard of the inventory and told the trust company officials that shortly before her death Mary Reilly told her that she had property valued at $10,000 or $11,000.

Public records and trust company books in St. Louis and Clayton have been gone over in search of this estate, but it cannot be found.

Officials of the Trust Company of St. Louis County told a Post-Dispatch reporter that they know nothing as to the merits of Mary Murnane's assertions that Father Dooley had a part of the estate. They merely filed the affidavit after she had voluntarily made it, they said.

Father Dooley when seen at his parochial residence Wednesday told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he had never had in his possession any money belonging to Mary Reilly and that it was at his suggestion that he was being summoned to testify in the Probate Court concerning his financial dealings with the deceased.

Father Dooley says he was called in to administer the sacraments of the church when Mary Reilly was sick and was instrumental in having her placed in St. John's Hospital. He says the woman's relatives had her removed from there and taken into the country. On a number of occasions he says the relatives asked him if he had ever known Mary Reilly to be possessed of a fortune and he replied he did not.

It is Father Dooley's idea that the dead woman talked of her fortune during her life time so as to insure for herself good treatment from her relations until she died.

REPORTS WIFE GONE TO SUPPORT SELF AND GIRL

W. B. Cole Finds Letter Telling Him She Has Taken a Position in Colorado.

W. B. Cole asked the police Wednesday to aid him in discovering the whereabouts of his wife, Anna, and their daughter, Margaret, 12 years old, who, he says, left his home in Berne place on the St. Charles Rock road, Saturday night.

Cole returned home to find the house deserted, he said, and under his pillow discovered a farewell letter from his wife. She informed him that, in order to relieve him of the burden of supporting her and the child, she had taken a position in Colorado. With the note was a letter, from which the postmark had been removed, signed with the name "E. F. Johnson." It was addressed to Mrs. Cole and offered her $25 a month to care for the writer's invalid wife.

According to Cole, his wife drew $300 from her account in the Western National Bank. He hopes to learn where she has gone and says he is willing to "forget and forgive all." He has taken a room at 6801 Theodosia avenue.

ELLIS ISLAND HOLDS ELOPING PARIS PAIR

NEW YORK, May 21.—A special board of inquiry at Ellis Island took up today the case of Carlos Dominguez, an attaché of the Mexican Consulate at Paris during the Dias administration, and a pretty young woman companion who were detained in their stateroom when the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II docked late yesterday.

They were on the ship manifest as man and wife, but on the strength of a cablegram from Paris saying that the young woman was the daughter of a Parisian banker and had eloped, they were not permitted to land.

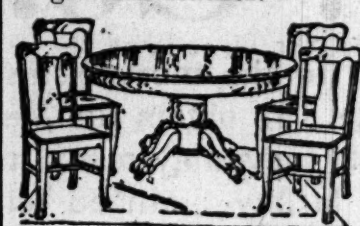

They were on their way to Mexico City.

DECLARES PRIEST HOLDS A PART OF WOMAN'S ESTATE

Normandy Cousin of Late Mary Reilly Files Information in Clayton Probate Court.

After trying in vain to solve what she believes to be the mystery of her cousin Mary Reilly's estate, and following a search of St. Louis and St. Louis County trust companies, Mary Murnane of Normandy filed an affidavit in the Probate Court at Clayton Wednesday in which she says she has information that Father Patrick Dooley, pastor of St. Bridget's Church, has possession of funds belonging to the estate.

Probate Judge Shackelford issued a citation summoning Father Dooley to appear in court June 2 and tell what he knows of the estate.

Mary Reilly for many years lived on Wash street in St. Bridget's Parish. She died Aug. 9, 1911, and Public Administrator Trolle took charge of the estate. Two days later a will was found and filed at Clayton and the estate was taken out of Trolle's hands.

The will provided that $500 should be used for funeral expenses. To her cousin, Thomas Leonard, she bequeathed $100 and to her cousin, Mary Murnane, she left $100 and whatever life insurance might be still in force. The remainder of the estate was to go to another cousin, Kate Joyce of Normandy. All of the heirs were in St. Louis County and the Trust Company of St. Louis County at Clayton was made executor.

Tuesday the company, at the end of the legal two-year period of administration, filed an inventory showing that the estate was valued at $148.

Mary Murnane was surprised when she heard of the inventory and told the trust company officials that shortly before her death Mary Reilly told her that she had property valued at $10,000 or $11,000.

Public records and trust company books in St. Louis and Clayton have been gone over in search of this estate, but it cannot be found.

Officials of the Trust Company of St. Louis County told a Post-Dispatch reporter that they know nothing as to the merits of Mary Murnane's assertion that Father Dooley had a part of the estate. They merely filed the affidavit after she had voluntarily made it, they said.

Father Dooley when seen at his parochial residence Wednesday told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he had never heard in his possession any money belonging to Mary Reilly and that it was at his suggestion that he was being summoned to testify in the Probate Court concerning his financial dealings with the deceased.

Father Dooley says he was called in to administer the sacraments of the church when Mary Reilly was sick and was instrumental in having her placed in St. John's Hospital. He says the woman's relatives had her removed from there and taken into the country. On a number of occasions he says the relatives asked him if he had ever known Mary Reilly to be possessed of a fortune and he replied he did not.

It is Father Dooley's idea that the dead woman talked of her fortune during her life time so as to insure for herself good treatment from her relations until she died.

REPORTS WIFE GONE TO SUPPORT SELF AND GIRL

W. B. Cole Finds Letter Telling Him She Has Taken a Position in Colorado.

W. B. Cole asked the police Wednesday to aid him in discovering the whereabouts of his wife, Anna, and their daughter, Margaret, 12 years old, who, he says, left his home in Berkeley place on the St. Charles Rock road, Saturday night.

Cole returned home to find the house deserted, he said, and under his pillow discovered a farewell letter from his wife. She informed him that, in order to relieve him of the burden of supporting her and the child, she had taken a position in Colorado. With the note was a letter, from which the postmark had been removed, signed with the name "E. F. Johnson." It was addressed to Mrs. Cole and offered her $25 a month to care for the writer's invalid wife.

According to Cole, his wife drew $300 from their account in the Western National Bank. He hopes to learn where she has gone and says he is willing to "forget and forgive all." He has taken a room at 6801 Theodosia avenue.

Start Your Baby With Sound Health

Regulating the Bowels From Childhood on Forestalls Future Serious Diseases

We cannot all start life with the advantages of money, but every child born is entitled to the heritage of good health. Through unfortunate ignorance or carelessness in the feeding of a baby its tiny stomach may become deranged, the disorder spreads to the bowels and before the mother realizes it the two chief organs on which the infant's comfort and health depend are causing it great suffering. If the condition is allowed to continue grave ailments often result.

There is, however, no occasion for alarm, and the sensible thing to do—but it should be done instantly—is to give the baby a small dose of a mild laxative-remedy. In the opinion of a great many people, among them such well-known persons as the parents of Dixie Dudley, Magnolia, Ark., the proper remedy is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mrs. Earl Dudley writes: Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the best medicine I ever used. It cured my baby of flatulency colic when the doctors failed; it cured my husband of constipation. My home shall never be without Syrup Pepsin. It is a pleasant-tasting laxative, which every person likes. It is mild, non-gripping, and contains the most excellent of all digestants, Pepsin.

This remedy is especially intended for infants, children, women, old people and all others to whom harsh cathartics, salt waters, pills, etc., are distressing. In fact, in the common disorders of life, such as constipation, liver trouble, indigestion, biliousness, headaches, and the various disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels nothing is more suitable than this mild, laxative-remedy, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Two generations of people are using it today, and thousands of families keep it constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it. It can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, the latter being the size bought by families who already know its value. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

LAWYER MISSING 6 WEEKS, BELIEVED TO BE IN ARMY

William O. Anderson's Father Thinks He Enlisted While Under Mental Strain.

William O. Anderson, a lawyer with an office in the Central National Bank Building, has been missing for six weeks from his home in Webster Groves, according to a declaration of his father, F. N. Anderson of Clayton, to a Post-Dispatch reporter Wednesday.

The elder Anderson said he had heard that his son while in such a mental condition as not to realize what he was doing, had enlisted in the army at Springfield, Ill., and had been sent first to Jefferson Barracks and then to some army post in Texas.

He said neither he nor his son's wife had heard from the missing man. "I have heard," said the elder Anderson, "that six weeks ago my son went to Springfield and enlisted there. I have not been able, thus far, to verify this absolutely, but if it is true, it is true. I shall appeal to the highest officers of the army, if necessary, to annul the enlistment."

The father can conceive of no other explanation for his action than that he was suffering from temporary mental aberration. Charles Noble, who has been taking care of Anderson's law practice in his absence, has begun an investigation of Anderson's whereabouts, according to F. N. Anderson.

The missing lawyer is 33 years old, and has been married three years. He and his father are very well known in St. Louis County, and other lawyers say he has been successful in his practice.

At the office of the Central National Bank Building it was said that a man called several weeks ago and said that Anderson was suffering from nervous trouble and would have to give up his office. Since that time the office has been vacant.

The inscription on the office door is "Anderson & Money." Ira C. Money, who had an adjustment and collection business, shared the office, but it is not known at the office of the building where Money now is located.

STORY OF A GIRL, 13, CAUSES MAN'S ARREST

Catherine Baker Found in Benjamin Sims' Company at a Rooming House.

The story of 13-year-old Catherine Baker, found by the police in company with a man with whom she had been at the rooming at 21 North Eighteenth street since April 20, will be investigated by the grand jury, Assistant Circuit Attorney Spencer said Wednesday.

The man, Benjamin Sims, 28 years old, a laborer, with a wife and three children, whose whereabouts he says he does not know, is under arrest.

Catherine Baker disappeared April 29 from the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary Baker, 2542 St. Louis avenue. The police were notified and Tuesday afternoon detectives found the girl sitting on the front steps of the rooming house. Sims said the girl had come to the house with another man on the night of April 29 and that the man left the next day. He says she told him that the man was her husband, from whom she was divorced, and that they had agreed to a reconciliation, but that he had deserted her again.

The girl denies she went to the house with another man. She says she had no reason for leaving home, but just took a notion to go to a rooming house to live, engaged a room at the Eighteenth street house by herself and then met Sims.

JANITOR WINS SUIT TO PREVENT BEING OUSTED

Jury Decides He Has Right to Stay in Apartments Until Month Is Up.

Beverly M. Nevins, owner of the Nevins Apartments at Cates and Bell avenues, is barred from ejecting his janitor, J. C. Heppler, by a verdict returned by a jury in the court of Justice W. D. Moore. The same verdict allowed the janitor $70 which he claimed was due him from Nevins in back salary.

According to Nevins, Heppler was discharged May 1, but refused to leave. Heppler said there was $63 due him as wages, but Nevins would allow him but $20. Several attempts by Nevins to have his janitor ousted by the police failed. The jury upheld Heppler's contention that he has a right to work his month out, and aside from allowing him wages up to June 1, decided that he may remain in the janitor's quarters at the apartments until that time.

DROWNS HIMSELF AFTER CHILD ASKS ABOUT DEAD WIFE

The body of Fred Metz, 45 years old, was found, Wednesday morning in the river by fishermen at the foot of Barton street. The body was identified at the morgue by John J. Kennedy, mortuary superintendent, a friend of his family, from the tattoo mark of a bull's head on the right arm. Metz disappeared three weeks ago from the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Walsh, 3032 St. Vincent avenue, after one of the Walsh children had asked a question about "Grandma" and "Aunt Lou." Metz had been despondent since the death two years ago of his wife, who was the grandmother of the child, and had been more depressed since the death two months ago of his daughter-in-law, who was the "Aunt Lou" about whom the child inquired.

He made frequent requests of his relatives not to mention the death of his wife and daughter-in-law, and was particularly despondent after each chance remark which directed his attention to either. As soon as the child spoke the words inquiring about the dead relatives, Metz choked back his sobs, wiped his eyes and left the Walsh home, saying he was going to a barber shop. He did not return, and Mrs. Walsh asked the police to search for him. He was a butcher.

G. A. R. PARADES DOWN HISTORIC ROUTE AT ALTON

Two Men Who Marched to the River as Recruits in '61 Retrace Steps in Line.

Two Civil War veterans who marched to the front from the recruiting camp in Alton in 1861 and who are now for the first time since then revisiting the city, retraced their steps of 52 years ago, Wednesday afternoon, in the parade of the Illinois State Encampment of the G. A. R., which is holding a two-days' session at Alton.

The route down Second street over which the recruits passed on their way from the camp to the river was followed by the parade. The two veterans are F. D. Troxell of Canton, Ill., and M. L. Potts of Louisville, Ky. About 5000 persons were in line, representing the G. A. R. the Sons of Veterans, the Women's Relief Corps, the Daughters of the G. A. R., and the Daughters of Veterans. Col. A. M. Jackson of the Western Military Academy was grand marshal.

Apparatus for instruction. Campfires were held Tuesday night at the Temple Theater and the Elks' and Odd Fellows' halls. At the first Mrs. Isabel Worrell Ball, a newspaper woman from Washington, D. C., who is vice-president of the National Women's Relief Corps, made an appeal for more thorough instruction concerning the Civil War in the public schools and for greater respect to the flag.

She declared that, although pupils are instructed concerning all the "ologies and the geography and history of other countries, the Civil War is skimmed over so that they often do not know whether a victory was won by the North or the South, or who the generals were on either side.

Old Glory Trademarks. She upbraided women for using goods on which "Old Glory" is printed as a trademark, and charged that the flag is used for advertising purposes, and is sometimes carelessly run up its staff upside-down.

Gen. Alfred E. Beers, national commander of the G. A. R., praised Alton as a "military city" and found the town full of knobs and hills. He said statisticians had estimated that the last G. A. R. survivor would die in 1955, and that he had promptly telegraphed to have the place reserved for him. As examples of the survival of the fittest, he predicted, the Civil War veterans will outlive many youngsters of the present generation.

Thousands of persons tried to crowd their way into the campfire sessions, and many were unable to get into either of the three meetings.

The Bureau of Information in charge of the care of visitors by nightfall Tuesday had assigned the delegates to their rooms and automobiles were provided to take them to lodgings.

So great is the attendance that only a few of the visitors can be accommodated at hotels. About 3000 rooms in private residences have been thrown open to the old soldiers.

Boys' Life and Drum Corps.

A special train from Chicago arrived with 1000 delegates and guests, including the famous Grant Post Five and Drum Corps of seven surviving members of the original 16 who served in the Civil War. The oldest man in the band is John Rankin, 81 years old, and the "youth" is E. W. Clark, 64, who officiates at the bass drum.

George Lee of Chesterfield leads his life and drum corps of five boys wherever his fancy dictates, and frequently invades meetings and temporarily breaks up the proceedings while the old soldiers cheer.

W. R. Eddington of Macoupin County wore the same uniform he used during the Civil War as Sergeant of Company A, Ninety-seventh Illinois. The old coat is patched and darned in many places to hold it together for the annual meetings. He wears the red sash and cap which formed a part of the First Sergeant's uniform in the war.

RUM AND HOT BISCUITS
NOT UNDER INFLUENCE

Man, 85, Who Defends Niece Against Another Niece's Charges, Declared Sane.

David Cantion, 85 years old, of 4006 Lucky street, was declared of sound mind by a jury in the Probate Court Wednesday. Cantion's sanity was questioned by his niece, Mrs. Mary L. Freese, who asked that a guardian be appointed to look after his affairs.

Mrs. Freese testified that she believed Cantion was being unduly influenced by another niece, Mrs. Bridget Creeley, at whose home he lives.

Cantion was put through a long examination on the witness stand. Asked if he was unduly influenced by Mrs. Creeley he said:

"Why, no, but she treats me fine. She gives me rum and hot biscuits for breakfast every day."

Cantion was asked about his alleged delusion that he had $300,000 hidden in a stove at his home.

"If I told you what stove it was in you might go out and look for it," he said. "That's just one of my little jokes. I haven't a penny hidden anywhere."

Mrs. Freese tried to show that Cantion was unduly influenced when he deeded a piece of real estate to Mrs. Creeley in consideration of $1, but the jury did not sustain this contention.

Measure It By Your Musical Desires

The world of music is measured by each human according to his or her musical desires—

Whatever your desire in music the Apollo Player Piano will satisfy. And it will satisfy you—not for one year or two—but for all time.

You must have an instrument with unlimited possibilities, for as the years roll by, your demands in music are bound to grow more and more exacting.

And the limit of the Apollo Player Piano's musical scope is compassed only by the limit of the possibilities of piano music.

Everything—technique—expression—even inspiration enters into the rendition of Apollo music. It accents the melody or omits it altogether playing only the accompaniment. No other player piano ever made can do as much.

The Metronome Motor rewinds the music without pedaling and you can easily transpose compositions into any desired key for accompaniment purposes.

Come in and compare Apollo music with human music. It is the same because it is produced in the same way and by the same methods.

JOBS ON SIDE FORBIDDEN

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—The Lutheran Ministerium, the supreme body of that sect, decided today, at its closing session of the one hundred and sixty-sixth annual convention, that hereafter ministers of that denomination must not engage in any outside work. Two cases were cited, one of a minister who was an undertaker on the side, and another of a minister who raised onions, presumably for market. The new rule does not apply to young ministers who have not had a chance to obtain a permanent charge. One minister of the church has been ordained 37 years, but has preached only three sermons.

KING, ESCORTED BY AIRSHIPS, MEETS AND HUGS KAISER

German Emperor Greets English Monarch Upon Arrival in Prussian Capital.

By Associated Press. BERLIN, May 21.—True "Hohen-sollern weather"—brilliant sunshine and cloudless sky—has set in for the wedding activities of Princess Victoria Luise, daughter of the German Emperor and Empress, and Prince Ernst August of Cumberland, which takes place on Saturday.

The official receptions started this morning with the arrival of the bridegroom and the state entry into Berlin of King George and Queen Mary of England. There was no ceremony to greet Prince Ernst August when he reached the station at 8:25. He drove at once in an automobile to the castle, where he took breakfast with his bride-to-be before returning to the station to meet the British royals.

At the station, awaiting the arrival of the royal train, were Emperor William and Crown Prince Frederick William in the uniforms of their British regiments, together with the Empress and the Crown Princess. All the royal personages and princes assembled in Berlin and a mass of brilliantly uniformed military and naval officers and ministerial and court functionaries surrounded them.

King George and Queen Mary, when they alighted from the train, were greeted with the customary cordial embraces by the Emperor and Empress and the other members of the imperial family.

King George and Emperor William then jointly passed in review the guard of honor drawn up on the platform. This completed, the two monarchs, together, and the Queen and Empress, side by side, drove in open state carriages through the Avenue of Victory and Unter Den Linden to the cathedral of St. Mary, where they were met by a squadron of cavalry with pennoned lances. The wide thoroughfares were lined with troops of the guard army corps and behind them all Berlin seemed to have gathered.

The delightful ballroom, Zeppelin and Hansa, flying the British colors, accompanied the royal train from Rathenau, about 50 miles away, and hovered over the carriages as they drove toward the castle.

LETTERS FROM EUROPE TO BE READ IN SCHOOLS

Are Written in English by Children of Six Countries for Correspondence Course.

Several hundred letters written in English by pupils in the public schools of Germany, Denmark, France, Switzerland, Belgium and England are on their way to St. Louis to be read to students in the schools as a part of the international correspondence system installed by C. G. Rathmann, Assistant Superintendent of the St. Louis schools.

The exchange of letters between the children of the different countries was arranged by Rathmann on his recent visit to Europe, and was devised to create a greater interest among the children in the study of foreign lands and their residents. Rathmann says he believes the course will result in increasing the desire of pupils to study history and geography. Letters written by St. Louis pupils will be sent to the foreign schools from which correspondence is received.

Machine and Barge Torn From Anchors at River Mouth, Driven 18 Miles, Beached.

CORDOVA, Alaska, May 20.—Nine men were drowned Sunday night when a storm blew a pile driver and a barge ashore near Katalla. Five of the men resided at Cordova.

The dead men were building a fish trap for the Northwestern Fisheries Co. at the mouth of the Martin River, near Katalla.

A furious storm came up Sunday night and broke six anchors with which the pile driver and barge were made fast. They were driven 18 miles along the shore, where they struck on the beach.

The great summer campaign to save the lives of the tenement babies of St. Louis will open in full force on June 1, this date marking the beginning of the four hot months during which death claims his heaviest toll among the little ones of the poor.

It is for the purpose of aiding the St. Louis Pure Milk Commission, the King's Daughters and the Trained Nurse Association in this life-saving campaign that the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund League is being organized.

The League management hopes to be enabled, through the generous co-operation of kind-hearted St. Louisans, grown folks and children alike, to raise a big fund of $10,000 with which to help

"SAVE THE BABIES!"

Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund:

Please acknowledge receipt of same and send me a League membership card.

these three noble organizations to perform their chosen task to the fullest and most beneficial extent.

Every person contributing to the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund in amounts ranging from 50 cents to $20 or more will be enrolled on the list of honor testifying to the fact of membership in the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund League, organized to aid the St. Louis Pure Milk Commission, the King's Daughters and the Trained Nurse Association in their splendid battle to save the lives of the tenement babies and the sick poor during the four perilous months of June, July, August and September, when summer's deadly heat is at its worst.

Every helpful child arranging, managing or taking part in children's entertainments for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund will be enrolled as a League member.

To all these contributors and little helpers of the fund, cards of membership in the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund League will be sent.

Before the summer is well under way it is hoped that the League membership will number into the thousands and that a fund will have been raised which shall give the St. Louis Pure Milk Commission, the King's Daughters and the Trained Nurse Association the widest possible scope in their life-saving service.

For the convenience of all who wish to take part in this good work by joining the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund League, the League Membership Coupon, to be filled out and signed by contributors to the fund, again is printed today. Specify the amount of your contribution by marking out the other amounts named in the coupon and send it, with your contribution, to the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund League, in care of the Post-Dispatch, 210 North Broadway.

Receipt of your contribution will be acknowledged through the columns of the Post-Dispatch, and your League membership card will be mailed to your address at once.

Every man and woman in St. Louis who loves children and wishes to aid the good work of saving the lives of the tenement babies should join the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund League and thus acquire a vital membership interest in that good work. The little children of St. Louis should be helped to become League members.

It is safe to say that every child in St. Louis, more happily and securely placed in life than are the little ones of the poor in the city's crowded tenement districts, will be glad and proud to have its name enrolled in the big League Membership Book and to receive a League Membership card testifying to the fact that the holder of the card has contributed to help the good cause which the League represents.

It's as natural for a child to love a baby, and to pity and wish to help a less fortunate child, as it is for a bird to sing. For many years now the thousands of St. Louis children who have worked so zealously for the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund have proved that they love and are glad to aid in saving the lives of the little tenement babies of the poor.

Join the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund League. Let your children join. Help other children to join. Do it now. The St. Louis Pure Milk Commission, the King's Daughters and the Trained Nurse Association are sorely in need of money to begin their summer's work.

The Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund League hopes soon to be able to tell these three splendid life-saving organizations that the money necessary for their work is in hand and available for immediate use.

KIEL, IN DEBATE WITH CRUNDEN, FAVORS BOSSISM

Mayor, Before Freeholders, Calls
Himself Boss, Advocates the Spoils System.

URGES CARE ON CHARTER

Ex-Councilman Favors Recall,
Would Have Officials Chosen at Large.

Mayor Kiel and Frank P. Crunden, former Councilman and advocate of radical theories in city government, had a sharp debate at Tuesday afternoon's meeting of the Board of Freeholders, over proposals made by Crunden and by Frank Putnam of Houston, Tex., for the new charter.

In discussing the need of political bosses and for such a body as the House of Delegates, Crunden and the Mayor spoke with such point and feeling that, when the meeting was over, the two big men had to shake hands and slap backs with ostentation, to assure the freeholders that they had meant nothing personal.

Crunden had suggested that, if ward representation was to continue, men be eligible to represent the wards where their business is, as well as the wards where they live. He said this would do away with the ward boss. Under the present system, he said, a boss, or some disinterested citizen with time to give to the city, is a necessity.

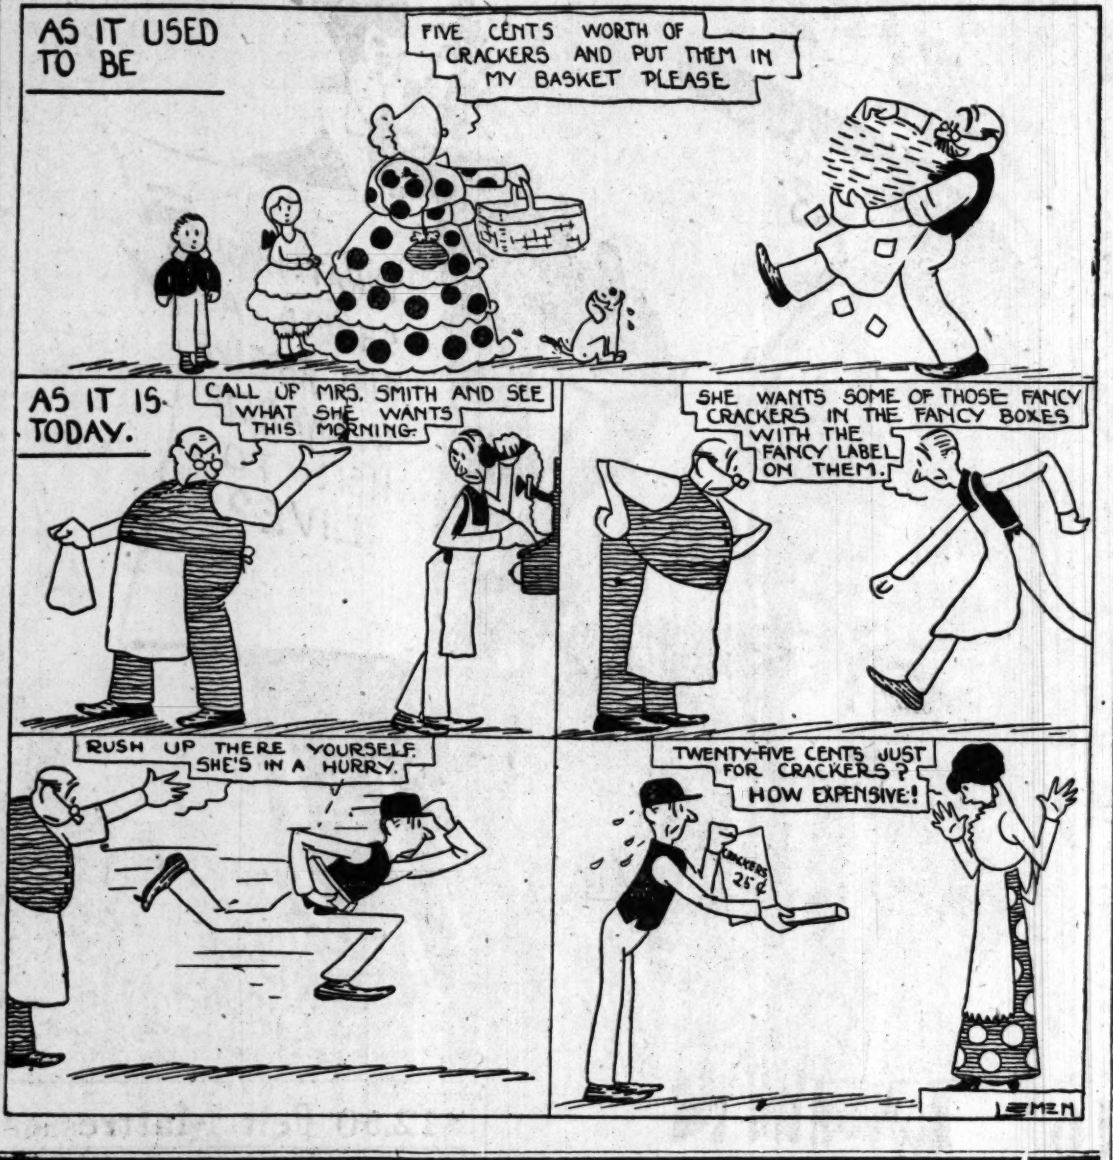

"I'm what you call a political boss," remarked Kiel, speaking after Putnam and Crunden. "I have been a ward boss, which is what Mr. Crunden wants to eliminate. And when you talk about abolishing the House of Delegates, you ought to remember that the last proposed charter failed because it had two or three bad things in it, one of which was a proposal to abolish the House."

House in His Salvation.
"Don't know what I would do without the House now," the Mayor went on. "In this tax increase matter, the House is my salvation. And aren't the jobs given to the organization, without asking whether it has men able to fill them?"

"On the contrary," replied Kiel, warmly. "The Republican City Committee doesn't recommend men unless they are fit for the place. I know. We have competent men in the city hall jobs. It is a surprise to me that some of them will work for the city that pays them. Look at Comptroller Taus-

Cost of Living by Telephone

(Grocers in convention here say present day methods of ordering household supplies are a factor in high cost of living.)

sig, and how he kept the Democratic subordinates in his office.

"Yes," rejoined Crunden, "and didn't the Republican committee put terrific pressure on Tausig to get him to discharge those men?"

There was no direct answer from the Mayor, who was head of the City Committee at the time of the occurrences referred to.

"Speaking of the merit system," Kiel went on, changing the subject slightly, "the Recreation and Parole Board has a merit system. It consists of appointing their friends from civic organizations to positions. I know, because I have been approving them."

"You appoint the board, don't you?" said Crunden.

"The Mayor appoints them."

Changes the Mayor Wants.
"I think their appointments were very good ones," Crunden declared. "I hope the new charter will be one which the people will approve," Kiel went on. "Many changes are needed. The Mayor is required to sign warrants for Coroner's fees, with no way of knowing whether the fees are proper ones; requisitions for bars of soap and the like. It takes up time which the Mayor needs for other things."

"Give the public the charter section by section, and see what the people think about it. In that way you can feel the popular sentiment in the air. I remember what the feeling and the comments were in the Republican organization, when it was first reported that the last Board of Freeholders had decided to abolish the House."

"Remember that framing a charter is one thing, and getting the people to approve it is another thing," Crunden told the Freeholders that he believed it desirable to have as few elective officers as possible, and to elect them at large. "The city government, he said, should not be wholly one of experts, but experts should have charge of departments, and nonexperts could check them up. This plan, with an elected Mayor, he said, would give the benefits of the commission form of government, without its possible defects."

More Power for Mayor Asked.
He went on to advocate increased power for the Mayor, accompanied by absolute responsibility. Louis P. Aloe asked whether any body should have power to confirm or disapprove the Mayor's appointments. Crunden replied strongly in the negative, showing experience had shown that this power was used as a snafu.

When Crunden advocated higher pay for elected officials and important appointive positions, F. N. Judson suggested that it was not a man's white to work for the city, even for smaller pay than a private concern would give him, since he made a reputation in the public employment which was of value to him later.

"Yes," replied Crunden, "of value in getting a place elsewhere. That is just what we don't want capable men to do. We want to keep them in the city's employ."

Crunden also advocated the recall for elected officers, saying he would not wish St. Louis to go through the torments suffered by a city which had elected an inefficient Mayor and could not get rid of him.

San Antonio Plans Celebration.
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 21.—Plans to celebrate the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of San Antonio by elaborate historical pageants and an international exposition in which Spain, France, and Mexico will be invited to participate, were launched at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce here. The celebration will be held in the fall of 1918.

Knocked down by an automobile May 2, at Sixth street and Washington avenue, and a jagged cut two inches long at the back of her head was found, on examination, to cover a fracture of the skull. In the operation which saved her life, a piece of the skull the size of a dollar had to be removed from both the right and the left sides.

Her physical condition now is considered good, and Dr. Frederick Hagler said she probably would be able to return to her home in 10 days or two weeks.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 21.—Emma Goldman and Dr. Ben Reitman, anarchists, were arrested on their arrival here from Los Angeles and taken to the city limits in a police automobile, where they boarded another train for Los Angeles. The program was arranged by the police and agreed to by the prisoners.

The police say they arrested the couple to prevent a repetition of the vigilantes' episode of last year, when Reitman was tarred and feathered here and both he and the woman were forced to quit the city.

Blast From Gunpowder Deranges

Edinburgh Institution.

By Associated Press.
EDINBURGH, Scotland, May 21.—A bomb exploded in the west dome of the Royal Observatory at 1:30 o'clock this morning.

The police declare that militant suffragettes committed the outrage. Prof. Ralph A. Sampson, the Astronomer Royal of Scotland, thinks the evidence found indicates two women were engaged in the outrage. He says they apparently hurt themselves, as bloodstains were found about the building.

Several pounds of gunpowder must have been exploded, as heavy doors were blown open, and much glass and wood-work had been shattered.

London Standard Says Suffragette Cause Is Bankrupt.
LONDON, May 21.—The Standard asserts that the militant cause is practically bankrupt. It claims to know that the alleged huge war chest of the suffragettes of more than $500,000 is "a gigantic bluff," that the alleged $75,000 subscribed at the last Albert Hall meeting consisted of dummy checks, there being only $4000 in cash, and that the resources from the sale of militant papers and public subscriptions are dwindling.

Short again declared today that he was sure that Louis Watson, the suspect held by the police here, is the man who shot him.

Give Proper Care to the Hair and
You will never
Need a Wig.

HERPicide

The man who wears a toupee does not like it, but has the courage of his convictions.

Never intended that the top of the head should be left entirely without protection. A bald head is very susceptible to contraction of colds and neuritis. Wearing an artificial piece counteracts this tendency, and, aside from the improvement in the personal appearance, is amply justified.

How much better it would have been had the man, now chronically bald and wearing a toupee, but realized earlier in life the approaching danger and devoted a little regular attention to his hair.

There is a remedy which will absolutely prevent baldness. Loss of hair in nine cases out of ten, is unnecessary, being due to dandruff and the germ that causes it. This germ must be destroyed and the accumulations of dandruff checked. Then the hair will not fall out, but instead will grow naturally and luxuriantly.

Newbro's Herpicide is the remedy, regular applications of which restores the most grating results. It has long been known as the "original remedy that kills the dandruff germ" and is absolutely dependable.

Newbro's Herpicide, in 50c and $1.00 sizes, is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Herpicide applications may always be obtained at the better barber shops and hairdressing parlors.

Apportion dealing to try Newbro's Herpicide before purchasing a large bottle will receive a nice sample and booklet by sending 10c in postage or silver to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R, Detroit, Mich. For sale at all drug and department stores.

HERPicide

The man who wears a toupee does not like it, but has the courage of his convictions.

Never intended that the top of the head should be left entirely without protection. A bald head is very susceptible to contraction of colds and neuritis. Wearing an artificial piece counteracts this tendency, and, aside from the improvement in the personal appearance, is amply justified.

How much better it would have been had the man, now chronically bald and wearing a toupee, but realized earlier in life the approaching danger and devoted a little regular attention to his hair.

There is a remedy which will absolutely prevent baldness. Loss of hair in nine cases out of ten, is unnecessary, being due to dandruff and the germ that causes it. This germ must be destroyed and the accumulations of dandruff checked. Then the hair will not fall out, but instead will grow naturally and luxuriantly.

Newbro's Herpicide is the remedy, regular applications of which restores the most grating results. It has long been known as the "original remedy that kills the dandruff germ" and is absolutely dependable.

Newbro's Herpicide, in 50c and $1.00 sizes, is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM.
I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.
April 10, 1907. JOSEPH PULITZER.

THE HUMAN FORM DIVINE.
Naked truth is a frequent trouble maker, but we are scarcely prepared for Sculptor Zolnay's criticism that her marble figure should never be set up in any park or other public place. His objection is not that truth is symbolized as a woman, but that the female figure in itself, no matter what the statue may represent, is an offense to good citizens.

Nature committed an unpardonable offense against morals when she gave human beings, especially women, bodies formed as they are with two legs on them. The trouble is that there are only two. If she had four, doubtless woman might be viewed undraped without shame as other quadrupeds are. A perfectly nude mule is respectable, and the most proper critic may look upon its marble reproduction without blushes. Even the mule cow passes for modest. But the biped, particularly the female, is a gross obscenity. In the last analysis, we repeat, the trouble is all with the lower extremities. The veriest prude does not object to a work of art which exposes a neck and ears as nature made them. Pictures of saints are fairly worshipped which ill conceal arms and bust. Except on theatrical bill posters the upper half of the spine is fairly respectable. Indeed, a mermaid is very much admired by the best people. But neither limbs—two of them—are infra dig. They must be skirted or blanketed or baled, and never mentioned. Because it suggests their prior existence, walking is just a bit vulgar—or, let us say, nasty, which is a word even more to the taste of very nice persons. And, in this instance as in general, what is nasty in life is naughty in art.

If art will persist in the nude, it should improve on nature. "True art is nature to advantage dressed." Bechewing the classic models which have moved the admiration of lewd and uncultured minds since the Golden Age of Pericles, let art adorn the perfect lady with four legs instead of a vulgar pair. Or if art will not go beyond two, then put fetlocks on the ankles, fringe the spine with a mane, as some of nature's unobjectionable specimens are beautified, or feather the legs like those of a Brama hen, anything to idealize sheer human anatomy into a semblance of purity, perfection of grace and charm. To think that this temple of the soul, with but a paltry pair of legs, should ever have been called the human form divine!

Mayor Kiel defends the plan of permitting party committees to dictate appointments to municipal places and attacks the merit system, which is the equivalent of saying that these places should be made the currency with which political debts are paid.

MR. ANHUT'S PARABOLIC ORBIT.
The surreptitious methods of John Anhut, convicted of an attempt to bribe Dr. John W. Russell of the Matteawan Asylum to recommend Harry Thaw's release, do not conceal the moral in his case. His real name is Anhutski, but he dropped the "ski" to conceal his ancestry and facilitate the career he had marked out for himself. He had a parabolic orbit in politics in the West, served in the Legislature, organized a motor car company on the lines of the most frenzied of finance, and then decided that if the world was not yet his, New York was, and proceeded to preempt his claim. What wonder that he was attracted to Thaw, whose make-up so much resembled his own? He reached the metropolis with little money, but Thaw had means of obtaining much. He had still managed to preserve his own liberty, but Thaw was in confinement. It was logical that they should combine for mutual benefit.

This is a young man who deliberately adopted the standards of the get-quick-age in which he lived. Confinement for both the Anhuts and the Thaws is prescribed by society for its own protection.

Alton seems to be doing some more "nature faking" today with the G. A. R. on parade.

WHAT ARE THE SCHOOLS FOR?
The Post-Dispatch desires to see full justice done to the city's school teachers. But a number of complaints which have appeared in the latter column, that "allens," or teachers from other states or cities, are employed here, suggests the question: What are the schools for? Were they founded in order to supply St. Louisans with jobs, or to provide the highest possible education to the children?

It is somewhat natural that a teacher, like any other employe, should come to look upon his vocation as something out of which he gets a living, losing sight of the prime fact that every true vocation is an opportunity for service. But this narrow, selfish point of view is especially mischievous in a teacher or preacher—in any calling where living example is needed and responsibility to the young or the unenlightened is involved.

Insistence upon this "alien" point of view would ultimately mean that every ward, every precinct, might claim that its candidates for teacher should be installed, merely because local interests demanded it. Talent and capacity would be subordinated or despised.

FOR THE PUBLIC WELFARE.

If the majority of the House of Delegates, supporting the tax-increase to build the upper deck of the municipal bridge, find it impossible to obtain a majority for that measure it should pass the bill pending for a 3-cent increase to meet the needs of the city for the coming year.

The object of 10-cent increase is to continue the building of the bridge until a bond issue is approved by the people and assure the completion of the upper deck for vehicle and trolley traffic. It is a business-like measure which proposed to substitute action and progress for delay and stagnation. But the defeat of this progressive purpose does not justify hampering the city in other directions. It does not justify depriving the municipality of necessities for efficient conduct and pressing improvements.

The difference of opinion between the Mayor and the majorities of both branches of the Municipal Assembly should not be made an occasion to hamper the city government by insufficient revenue. The swinging of the spoils club, however unwise and irritating it may be, should not lead the members of the Municipal Assembly to retaliate to the injury of the city.

The public welfare should govern public officials. The defeat of the 2.35-rate should be followed by the immediate adoption of the 2.35-rate. Both Republican and Democratic Assemblymen will win public esteem by putting aside personal and political resentments for the benefit of the city. A compromise measure might be agreed upon and passed.

Many former residents of Missouri are competing in the Post-Dispatch $100 contest for the Ten Best Reasons Why People Should Come to Missouri. They express their regard for their former home, and extol its advantages as they now see them after comparison with other states. It would not be surprising if the contest should result in Missouri reclaiming a number of her wandering sons and daughters.

NEW POLICE LOBBY SCANDAL.

Sol J. Reichenberg, clerk of the Souldard Police Station, has been dismissed by the Police Commissioners. The charge against him of having urged members of the Municipal Assembly to oppose the bill outlawing clairvoyants seems to have been sustained, and the penalty to be richly deserved.

But Mr. Reichenberg lobbied only on a retail scale. Eight other members of the department are shown by undisputed evidence to have lobbied on a wholesale scale. What he did was confined to a few weeks, and apparently interfered little with his duties. The Jefferson City activities of Sergts. W. V. Jeans and J. R. Campbell and Patrolmen J. M. Bretz, John Roach, Thomas Dalton, A. J. Matlock, James Henderson and J. L. Barter caused their absence from the city for a considerable number of days in the aggregate, and covered a period of several months.

Why dismissal for Reichenberg and approval for the other eight? That the clerk followed the example of two sergeants and six patrolmen is not so surprising as his failure to imitate the technique that gave his superiors immunity. He should have collected a $52000 fund from his colleagues, accepted a per diem as lobbyist hire and caused a scandal by expenditures of $30 a day and upward in influencing the fate of the legislation in which he was interested.

Police lobbyists should all be treated alike by the Commissioners.

The New Jersey woodchoppers who threatened Woodrow Wilson have been convicted. This should be a horrible example to would-be panic makers.

THE COLISEUM.

The question of saving the Coliseum for the purpose for which it was created ought not to trouble the men in charge of the big building. The sale of $25,000 worth of bonds necessary to put the finances of the building in good order should be accomplished in short order.

Not only is there a large margin of value over the amount of bonds in the Coliseum property, but the structure serves a useful purpose in the city. Without it, St. Louis would lack a suitable place for conventions, expositions and other events of magnitude which must be provided with adequate space. If the Coliseum did not promise a dollar of returns or ultimate profit, it would be worth its cost to St. Louisans, especially St. Louis business men.

Tokio informs us that nobody in Japan is looking for trouble except the lower classes. There was an impression that the lower classes everywhere had trouble enough.

TEST THE MUZZLING LAW.

Twenty-three cases of dog bite in St. Louis in four days, before the beginning of hot weather, suggests that the apathy of the public authorities with regard to the dog muzzling law will have ill effects. A recent report of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service shows that "rabies" is on the increase in the Middle Western states, where muzzling has not been enforced. In Missouri, 187 victims of dog bite had to take the Pasteur treatment in one year. Great Britain, Norway, Sweden and Denmark have stamped out rabies by enforcing muzzling laws for a period of six months.

Australia never had a case of rabies or hydrophobia. Whether this is due to the long period it takes to transport dogs from Europe or America to Australia, or whether it is due to the fact that Australian newspapers don't report dog bite cases and so no one gets the disease through suggestion, is not proved. We have a condition here in St. Louis and Missouri that demands a thorough test of muzzling. It would remove the fear of dog bite and the consequent stimulation of the disease supposed to be contracted from it. Enforce the muzzling law with a sufficient penalty for the next six months, in the interest of science and the public safety.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

No "Arbitrary" at Washington, D. C.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Mr. I. H. Lionberger in a letter to the Post-Dispatch of the 15th regarding the well-doing of the Terminal Railroad Association, says:
"So favorable a situation can be found nowhere else in the United States."

To this letter I take emphatic exception. Washington has its Washington Terminal Co. with a monopoly of the railroad bridge spanning the Potomac with the great Potomac yards and city freight yards and a union station.

In every respect the conditions are identical with St. Louis. The managing is, however, entirely different. Here there is no bridge arbitrary, but on the other hand the railroads collect and deliver freight by automobile at store doors free of any charge for that service, just as they do in Baltimore.

They have abolished grade-crossings everywhere. No bell-ringing, whistling or smoking locomotives are within the city. Engineers attend to that. The freight yards and right-of-way are handsomely adorned with hedges, flowers and grass plots. Within 50 feet of the tracks, in some places, are fine residences, where the ladies sit on the lawns in white dresses without annoyance from noise or smoke. One such locality is at Eighth and Maryland avenue and another is close to the Jersey yards.

Not the slightest sound can be heard in the vicinity of the union station, as through the forethought of the builders, trains move out on a slight downward grade and arrive by momentum.

Washington boasts of having the most beautiful railway entrance, from its river side, of any city on earth.

Recently 47 statues have been placed within the union station besides the six big 16-foot granite statues on the outside walls already described by the Post-Dispatch. The Terminal company has ordered a number of bronze statuary groups for the roof of the station.

If the big-wigs of St. Louis, when coming to Washington, spent less time shopping around the White House and Chevy Chase and more in observing the railway facilities and rates their home city would benefit.

G. H. REID.
Washington, D. C.

"Made in St. Louis."
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
In regard to buying St. Louis-made goods, the only articles I buy from other cities are collars and magazines. I hope to see these made here soon. It has been said that if the St. Louis manufacturers depended on St. Louis alone they would soon go out of business. St. Louis buys more goods from New York and Chicago than these cities buy here. Go into a store in either of these cities and you won't see these St. Louis goods about you, as you see these cities' goods here.

Where St. Louis sells most of the goods is in the small towns and the small towns will never be able to make all the articles they need. St. Louis leads the world in shoes, yet in any shoe store they will show one only Eastern-made shoe. A store will brag about buying thousands of suits from some other city. How much of this money would be paid out in wages if they were made here? Even candy is shipped in here and sold. I am in favor of a store with nothing but St. Louis-made goods. If the people like to see some other name on the goods, put it on, but sell the goods anyway.

The Frank Putnam Charter Article.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Your article, "Charter Needs, etc." in the May 15 edition, giving an interview with Frank Putnam from Texas, is very interesting and instructive. I wish every St. Louiser would read it. This man has visited us just in the right time and to our good fate to enlighten us on this perplexing charter question. That you discovered him here and gave us this precise essay is certainly no small credit to your editorial department. How much St. Louis voters know why and for what we needed a new charter? I, for one, could not see any importance in that movement until reading this article. The City of St. Louis ought to repay to the City of Houston, Tex., half the expenses of Mr. Putnam's European trip, which value is fully contained for our city in this, your article. If the good points gained and brought out by that investigation trip are adopted in our new charter. Really our city should retain the services of Mr. Putnam and pay him for aiding in framing the new charter. If you encourage such a move, you will no doubt find the support of most of your readers.

H. MACE.

Mystery in Medicine.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
The Post-Dispatch being fearless and in sympathy with progress I will ask through its columns is there any just reason why the physician and lawyer should not be compelled to eliminate Latin, and from their practice? Is the English language inadequate to express all medical and legal thought? The people have demanded and justly so, the investigation of the trusts and corporations, to learn what is being done with their wealth. They want to know who is behind the scenes, their legal rights and health? To Americanize their profession is a step towards enlightenment. The age of paternalism is passing; any profession that deems it necessary to clothe its knowledge in a garb of mystery, to keep caste, will crumble like the old wise men of the temples 2000 years ago, who hoarded their knowledge to their own adulation and gain.

The people are paying for their service, and they have a right to know what they are getting in return. Come out into the open, don't make a simple performance through mystification, appear a miracle.

Every broad-minded doctor and lawyer will welcome the day when childhood awe and worship will cease, and in its place their honorable profession will enjoy the highest respect and esteem of strong and healthy thinking people.

WILL GORHAM.

Good Roads in Missouri.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I noted in your article in today's paper in regard to what Mr. J. H. Minor of Kansas City, Mo., had to say in regard to the automobile roads between Kansas City and St. Louis. Mr. Minor was very unfortunate in having chosen the "Old Trails" road, for you need not expect to find good roads at this season through clay hills and rocks, but if he had come by way of Mexico, Wellsville and Montgomery City he would have found excellent prairie roads as smooth as a floor. In Montgomery County, we have used the grade and drag, and can assure you we have the good roads. Instead Mr. Minor that if he wants good roads to try this route once and he will know hereafter how to go.

C. L. CLARK.

California and Ireland.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
The West is to be congratulated for resisting the first attempt to dictate State laws by Federal authority. It was amazing to see this undertaken by Democrats, who depend largely upon the Irish vote, led by a man named Bryan. Poyning's Statute will not be copied in this country, so that the writs of a state legislature must be initiated by a privy council or cabinet in Washington. Under that old Ireland was forced into swaddling clothes, disorderly became honorable and patriotic immigration became general, and the memory and the spirit of the properly elements of weakness in the situation of Great Britain today. Thomas Jefferson must have turned in his grave at this wrong attempted by those coming into power in his name.

A. C.

"WHY NOT ALL THAT I EARN?"

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

PROPHET. What of the weather—Will it never rain again?
Your optimism's cheerful,
But it doesn't bring the rain.
You set the stage for showers,
And the clouds go sailing by,
But we're watering the flowers,
And it's very, very dry.

PROPHET. We've been thinking—How would it do to say
There won't be any rain at all
For many a dusty day?
The weather seems contrary—Its mood is very plain,
And we thought if you outwitted it,
We'd get a bully rain.

ARIZONA.
Col. Roosevelt will spend his summer vacation in Arizona. Possibly that will induce the country to discover the infinite charms of that little known State. The summer climate of Northern Arizona has been called the most delightful in the West. All that part of the State is a plateau from eight to nine thousand feet above sea level. The days have a singular bright beauty without very much heat. The nights are deliciously cool. There are no mosquitoes. The air is like wine. The country is perhaps the most colorful in the world. Certainly there is no other place in the West so beautiful in the same colorful way as the Painted Desert. The mountains of that desert have a blues that is scarcely seen anywhere else on land or sea. They make one wonder if even the blue Alsatian Mountains of the old song were ever quite so blue.

The big horn shooting in the mountains of Northern Arizona and the nearby ranges of the Sierra Madre, in the State of Sonora, is the newest thing in big game hunting in America. Strange to say, there are more big horn there than in any other part of the West. They have held their own all these years in the old craters and upon the great lava beds of one of the most inaccessible hill countries in the world. Sportsmen did not even know they were there. It was not until Dr. William T. Hornaday of the Bronx Zoo went in there a few years ago and published a book on the subject that the big game hunters began looking in that direction.

Col. Roosevelt will have a round with those sheep. And they will remember it.

THE PEOPLE OF THE DARKNESS.
I wander thro' the busy streets, and see on every side,
Dim, painted wreaths of people who are living, yet have died;
A world of brooding sorrow lies beneath each woeen face—
The People of the Darkness these, the outcasts of our race.

I wander down a side street and an unfrequented way,
I find a little sunless court where ragged children play;
Of childhood as I know it they have nothing but the size,
And misery that is ageless, deep, a slumber in their eyes!

The morning breaks upon the scene. I hear on every street
Shambling, stumbling thro' the fog, the tramp of weary feet.
Who may these wan-faced phantoms be, and what their fevered quest?
The Workers of the Depths are they, who toil that I may rest!

The People of the Darkness, all, who welcome not the light;
Who stumble in the dawn and wander far by night.
I pity them, and yet I think, before the Judgment Day,
'Tis I will need their pity—I, who made them what they are!

CHARLES H. MACKINTOSH.

"I don't know whether the Mayor is going to take a vacation or not."

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

HEALTHY HINTS.
JAY.—Alcohol is almost the only cause of cirrhosis of the liver. First symptom, catarrh of the stomach, liver enlarges, then diminishes, abdominal dropsy, jaundice, with yellow or pasty complexion follows. Later symptoms, emaciation, dropsy in the legs, blue veins, etc. Treatment: Abstinence from alcohol; food, milk, eggs, soup, fish, etc. Avoid fruits and easily digested vegetables. Hot Springs (Va. or Ark.), are often beneficial. (Prof. Voit of Paris demonstrated that pepper has six times the power of gin to make gin liver. Remember that when you make your potatoes black with pepper the next time. Prof. Voit knew that, because he made gin livers in dogs, and guinea pigs by feeding them peppers.)

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.
YOUNG WIFE.—If scratch is in front of mirror and is not deep, rub well with tripolite powder; drug stores sell it.

F. W. H.—Cream cheese is made from "strippings" (the last of the milking of each cow), from a mixture of milk and cream, and is usually made in small oblong cakes. A general pressure (that of a two or four pound weight) is applied to press out the whey. After three weeks a little salt is added, and the cheese is frequently ripened in a powdered lump sugar. (Champagne paper, pearl buttons are by-products in the manufacture of cheese. From the casein, or whey, from the skim milk, cheesemakers have evolved means of manufacturing articles equal to the best imported champagne, a button equal to the finest of the product of the Mississippi river, and a glass paper which rivals the product of paper mills. Formerly the casein was thrown away, or given to hogs.)

LAW POINTS.
N. K.—You cannot compel a boy company to tell why it canceled your bond.

UNCLE SAM.—Nine hours a day (24 hours a week) is the limit for women workers. Children must not be employed more than 4 hours a day. Factory inspectors enforce the law.

LOUISE.—Your household furniture, unless it can be specifically shown to be your property, belongs to your husband, though your earnings may have gone into his purse. This is to be sure, great injustice. Legislatures are stupid and obstinate.

W. D. C.—Exempt from jury service in Missouri: Women, undertakers and embalmers; members of military and fire companies; those unable to read and write the English language; those suffering from infirmities; clergymen, doctors, druggists, apothecaries, mill superintendents, professors, teachers, navigators of the Mississippi river, and under 21 years; railroad employes, State and Federal office-holders, drunkards, persons of ill-fame, vagrants; previous service as jurors within the preceding year; foreigners unable to read and write English; exempt from jury duty; otherwise not except in criminal cases.

S. S.—Woman ophthaltic with a man who has no living wife aside from herself, of whom she is aware, and who holds himself out to be her husband by so conducting himself toward the people among whom they live that the latter are led to believe the couple are husband and wife, are treated as such by the courts. Proper proof is exhibited, she is said to be a "common law" wife merely to show that she is not a prostitute, on the basis of all our law, and to distinguish such a wife from one who married under duress or coercion, or who was granted him a divorce for desertion. The lady had declined to accompany him from the man-made town to the God-made country. No, said the county court. No, says the Court of Appeals. "She was not bound to follow him." It is not desertion—quære. May it not be desert—to refuse to hide her light in the rural districts?

To rural economy, farm uplift and the beautiful "back to the soil" movement, or hope, the decision is a "knock-out" blow. For what avail the plow or rake, or spade or hoe if women fail?

There is an ampler effort, a broader consequence to this decision. With more than a Copernican change it alters the astronomy of marriage. No longer is woman a satellite, an attendant and inferior moon. She is herself a planet of independent orbit.

But wouldn't it be an act, if not of justice, of contemptuous compassion, to pension the poor devil of an involuntary eremite who lives in the desert yet is not deserted?

A SUPERFLUOUS MOTHER.
From the Buffalo Evening Times.
A St. Louis woman named Molly Mooney was arrested in that city 30 years ago, disguised in a soldier's suit. She said that she enlisted in the fall of 1882 in the Seventh Iowa and was captured at Shiloh, paroled and allowed to return home, where she had been at Benton Barracks ever since. Furthermore, she said she was the wife of John Mooney, a laborer, and that she was married in Buffalo, N. Y., where her parents were still living. Molly was known by the name of Jack, and we would like to know more of this plucky woman. Who knew her?

NO PENALTY.
From Indianapolis News Query Column.
H. K.—Does the law adopting the song "On the Banks of the Wabash Far Away" as a State song prescribe any day or time for singing it?

No. It simply recites two stanzas and the chorus of the song, and enacts that the song be and is hereby established as the State song of Indiana. There is no penalty for not singing it.

ACCIDENTAL FOUL COSTS AL GILBERT MORRISSEY FIGHT

Bout Ends in First Round Just When Men Were Warming Up for Their Work.

Harry Sharpe's Decisions.

LEE MORRISSEY of Oklahoma City, Ok., vs. Al Gilbert of St. Charles, Mo., six rounds, weight 123 pounds—Morrissey the winner on a foul in the first round.

ARCHIE MCLEOD of St. Louis, Mo., vs. Billy Tierney of Louisville, Ky., six rounds, weight 113 pounds—McLeod the winner in the third round by a knockout.

GEORGE ORTLEPP of St. Charles, Mo., vs. Jack Stillman of St. Louis, four rounds, weight 118 pounds—Ortlepp the winner on points.

JACK MANNION vs. "Young" Leach Cross, both of St. Louis, four rounds, weight 105 pounds—Mannion the winner on points.

By Harry S. Sharpe,

Referee for the Future City A. C. and the Post-Dispatch's Boxing Authority. The testimonial tendered "Brooklyn" Tommy Sullivan, president of the Future City Athletic Club, last night, at the club's headquarters, fell far short of what had been expected in more ways than one.

Perhaps the warm weather had something to do with it, but it was surprising how few of the members attended and, financially, the show was a frost. Then Kingston Belmont, of whom so much has been said and written as a local aspirant for "white hope" honors, failed to appear for his bout with Charles Fleming, and no one seemed to know the reason why. It was the second time before the same club that Fleming, who was discharged from the United States Navy on the sixth of last March, was obliged to leave the ring because his prospective opponent refused the issue and he was keenly disappointed, as he has been anxious to show his home people what he could do in a boxing way.

But this was not the only disappointment for what promised to be the best boxing event of the evening came to a sudden ending in the first round when Al Gilbert of St. Charles, Mo., dealt a low blow to Lee Morrissey of Oklahoma City, Ok., though the latter wanted to continue. However as the pain became intensified he was unable to do so and it would have been an injustice to have permitted him to try.

Morrissey hurt by foul. The bout was stopped. There was evidently no intention on the part of Gilbert to foul his opponent and he took the accident very much to heart. These boys are skillful boxers and do not resort to unfair methods, and the unfortunate ending of their bout last night is one of the accidents of the ring that may happen now and then. As the bout proceeded Morrissey was showing to better advantage, especially in the very beginning, when he seemed to have no trouble in landing straight lefts, following them immediately with right crosses to the jaw. None of the blows were very hard and soon Gilbert began to bore in closer, using light left leads to the head and hard rights to the body. It was while delivering one of the latter that Morrissey raised on his toes, with both arms extended toward Gilbert, that the blow fell below the waistline and injured the Oklahoma boxer.

In the bout previous to this Archie McLeod made rather short work of Billy Tierney, who comes from Louisville, Ky., by planting a solid left-hand swing to Tierney's stomach in the third round that brought the Kentucky boxer to his hands and knees on the mat, and he remained in this position until counted out.

In the two previous rounds McLeod had outpointed and outlasted Tierney, who, though he appeared to be an experienced and clever boxer, was unable to keep the hard-hitting McLeod away from him.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Worth the Money.

AFTER viewing Tuesday's game between the Tigers and the Athletics, Owner Navin of Detroit will probably never again begrudge Ty Cobb any salary he earns. The wonderful Georgian, who has been showing at his best for the last two weeks, pulled out every stunt possible on the field. Here is what Cobb accomplished in one game:

Made three hits in three times at bat.
Scored three runs himself.
Made one triple.
Stretched a single into a double when an outfielder loafed on his job.
Worked the pitcher for free transportation twice.
Stole home in a pinch.
Brought home the winning run.
Retired four men on putouts.
And perhaps there were some other things he did that were overlooked, for he appeared to be as near the whole team as one man could.

If this Chalmers committee again does Cobb the injustice of ranking some one else ahead of him, as a baseball player, it ought to be liable for damages. Speaker is a fine player, but in all around effectiveness he approaches Cobb in efficiency about as closely as a pony does a Percheron.

Bring on the Padded Cell.

PERHAPS the queerest move a manager ever made was in the tenth inning, when, with Cobb on the bags, Leader Mack ordered his pitcher to pass the next two men. Rather than see Cobb free to run wild he staged the scene for a possible double play. In endeavoring to pull it off, however, the pitcher passed Lefty High, forcing home this very same Cobb with the winning run.

Queer baseball? Nope—insane.

Anderson Has Arrived.

RIGHT now every follower of the fight game east of California is asking: Who is Buddy Anderson? Anderson is the guy that Tuesday knocked out Joe Mandot and who previously trimmed that sturdy and hitherto impregnable Dutch fortress, Kayo Brown.

Aside from that, the record book of the vintage of 1912 saith not. By devoting channels we learn that Anderson is an old head, an experienced fighter of merit. The Californians knew his ability and appreciated him as testified to by the fact that he was the short end of the betting, even against so hardy a scrapper as Brown.

Anderson is now right in line for a title bout. He has shown enough on results to entitle him to a hearing with the joke champion, Willie Ritchie, or with Rivers.

And it appears he has the goods to make himself dangerous to either.

Good Night, Mandot.

INCIDENTALLY, Joe Mandot is one of the huge disappointments of the

"GUNBOAT" SMITH DEFEATS A TYRO IN JESS WILLARD

Giant Kansan Is Willing and Game, but Is a Novice at Boxing.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Gunboat Smith, the California heavyweight, won a 20-round decision over Jess Willard last night at Cofroth's open-air arena, but he won his contest over as green and at the same time as promising a heavyweight as has been seen in the West for many a day.

The Kansas cowboy proved that he knows so little about the game as to be styled an absolute novice, but he displayed speed and a good left and punching power that he should be able to develop. A year with Tom Jones ought to make a fighter out of Willard. He is game to the core, which with the natural advantages that he has on his side, ought to mean much for him.

boxing world. A pleasant, gentlemanly little fellow, he had a world of sport followers back of him, after he outpointed Joe Rivers in their first battle on the coast. That fight seemed to take something out of Mandot, for he never came back to the form he displayed on that occasion. He has been trimmed plentifully since that time, succumbing to defeat some ordinary scrappers.

Mandot evidently is a chip shy of championship class.

SPORT SALAD

HICKORY BOB.
HICKORY, dickery Bob! Certainly there on the job. He gave 'em two hits. And old "Muggsy" had fits. Hickory, dickery Bob!

The Browns didn't have much trouble holding their own with the world's champs, but they seem to have bumped into a snag in the world's chumps.

CRICKET.
NOW, take the game of cricket—It's a very popular sport. As dignified and solemn as could be. "I say, old chap, well played, sir!" You will hear some rooster snort. And then they call the game account of tea.

Speaking of tea, Sir Thomas Lipton says he considers the acceptance of his challenge a great victory for him. All right, Tummus, that will be about as far as the victory will extend.

Bob Wallace, Still With Browns, Helps Yankees to Second Victory

STRANGE how these rival teams always fatten their team pitching, batting and fielding percentages at the expense of the Browns. In fact, during the stay of the lowly and despised Yankees of New York in St. Louis they did the unexpected by winning two successive games.

And their stay is not completed. George McConnell was supposed to have been one of the ailing members of Frank Chance's hurling corps. He held the town boys to three runs and eight hits in Tuesday's matinee, suppressing them enough to enable the Manhattanites to win, 6-3. What would he have done had he been right?

He was opposed to George Baumgardner, the young speed demon. George went along fairly well, but a boot by Bob Wallace helped spill the beans. Bob had a chance to retire the side in the third round, with two on and two outs. But a roller from Creel's club filtered through his legs and two runs went over while the batter reached second. Another base hit came and the third marker of the round crossed.

This error hurt, but one by Ed Sweeney also helped the Browns to one of their counts. He tried to shatter the barrier in the right field pavilion and a run scampered across.

Those Browns have got in the habit of staging a ninth-inning rally. They put on one Tuesday, but it fell shy a few runs. With one dead, Compson went up for Wallace and coaxed a pass. He was forced by Agnew, but Lawyer McAllester, swinging for Baumgardner, poled a double to right, and Agnew, who had pilfered, went over. Shotton also got a free ticket, but Johnston ended it with an infield roller.

Somebody was wrong in saying that Hal Chase was stalling. In the two games played here Harold has been very much in the limelight. It's just natural for him to be a sensation as a fielder. But he has also clubbed his share of the hits. He got three Tuesday, mixing himself in every one of the three rounds in which his side tallied.

Smith Wins From McKinley.
Smith Academy defeated the McKinley High School baseball team on the Smith campus Tuesday, 8-2. Wilson held the South Side team down to a 2-0 defeat. A feature was the flawless field play of the McKinleyites.

The Jarr Family

No one would accuse Uncle Henry of guile! Oh, no!

By Roy L. McCardell

Mr. Jarr was somewhat surprised, although it cannot be recorded that he was pleased at all, to note from the street, his Uncle Henry—uncle by marriage—sitting at his ease in the front room of the flat with his feet on the window sill.

"What can we do?" sniffed Mrs. Jarr, as she met Mr. Jarr at the door. "The summer will be here before very long and if we want to send the children to the farm for Uncle Henry and Aunt Hetty to look after, while we go some place else—maybe to Panama or Canada, whichever is the cooler—we'll have to be nice to him!"

Mr. Jarr sniffed the air with a displeased expression. "Yes, I know," Mrs. Jarr went on, noting the snuffing. "and I wish you'd go out and buy some of those Chinese joss sticks to burn. Uncle Henry has a lot of samples with him of stuff to make the crops grow, although I can't see what would grow from that stuff except onions. But don't worry. I made him put the packages upon the roof, and it will be all right soon if we burn the joss sticks and if nobody complains to the Board of Health. Why can't we have wealthy relatives? I mean wealthy relatives that will live like human beings! Uncle Henry has lots of money, but he might as well be a poor relation for all he ever spends!"

"There, there!" interposed Mr. Jarr. "Cheer up! Uncle Henry's stay will be brief. This is the busy season on the farm, you know."

"That's the reason why I'm not so sure he'll go back home soon," whimpered Mrs. Jarr. "Did you ever notice Uncle Henry always visits us in his busy season?"

That is so he can find fault with us city people for our lazy ways, at the same time all the hard work at home is being done by the hired man and Aunt Hetty!"

"Surely you wouldn't accuse that sturdy, stalwart, honest American farmer of duplicity and guile?" remarked Mr. Jarr.

"I'd accuse him of anything. Only, as I said, I want to keep on good terms with him so we can send the children to the farm this summer," explained Mrs. Jarr. "But you'd better go in and speak to him. He's so very suspicious!"

"But if Uncle Henry was suspicious he gave no sign of it."

"Hello, Ed!" he cried heartily. "Got a cigar?"

Mr. Jarr had a cigar and passed it over.

"I'll bet this is an expensive 5-cent cigar," said Uncle Henry, regarding it keenly. "Dog gone it! You city folks are wasteful! If you had to work hard earnin' your bread by the sweat of your brow, like a farmer does, you wouldn't be wasting your money on selfish luxuries like 5-cent cigars!"

"Uncle Henry and me was to the moving pictures twice today," cried little Willie Jarr, "and we are going twice this evening."

"Why to the same place?" asked Mr. Jarr. "The same pictures will be on view, won't them?"

Uncle Henry gave Mr. Jarr a significant wink.

can't wink.

"Give the boy 5 cents to go out of the room, Ed," he said.

But Mrs. Jarr came in at this point and Uncle Henry's explanation was delayed.

"Aunt Hetty is feeling much better," Uncle Henry says," began Mrs. Jarr. "How could I have come on to tend to some business if she hadn't been well enough to look after things while I was away?" asked Uncle Henry.

"But the last time you came you said she was quite ill in bed," remarked Mr. Jarr.

"Well, that's so, too," explained the avuncular relative. "But Hetty had the neuralgia and used to groan and complain so that it fairly broke my heart to hear her. Mr. Jarr, I feel too soft. I just can't stand to hear that woman complain and on. So I come to the city."

"But now she's spry again, and it would do you good to hear her singing at her work. It's only idle women that's unhappy. Put 'em to work, and they'll forget all this nonsense 'bout wantin' to vote. Why, dog gone it! The women of Hay Corners is nominating Jane Tutwiler for Postmaster, and she says if she gets the appointment she'll stop the free-born privilege and birthright of men hanging around the Postoffice and discussin' likin' Japan and other national affairs."

"Say," whispered Mr. Jarr, as Mrs. Jarr tossed her head and walked out taking Master Willie with her. "Say, Uncle Henry, why do you want to see those same moving pictures?"

Uncle Henry looked cautiously around and then whispered:

"It's a picture they show four times a day, they said. A gal comes down to the river and then a train goes by. After it's past, she's in the water and her clothes is on the bank. Ed, some day that train's going to be late!"

Stories St. Louisans Tell

THE ASHMAN BEAT HIM TO IT.
DR. WILLIAM A. MAC KENZIE is an enthusiastic amateur gardener. Recently he spent an afternoon filling three large cans with fertilizer from a garden near his office on De Baliviere avenue. He carried them home in his machine in the evening and deposited them in his side yard. The next morning he arose earlier than usual, intending to transplant some flowers, but to his surprise he found the three cans setting beside his ash can—all empty. An over-accommodating ashman had seen the cans on his early morning rounds and had emptied them with the ashes.

Race War.
ULLO, Cyrus. How's things over to th' Croasin'?"
"Pretty dubious. We got a race war on."
"No!"
"Yep. Couple o' Swedes from Wisconsin started a market garden on th' North-rd."
"Well?"
"Th' board o' selectmen held a meetin' right away an' passed a anti-alien act."
"Well, well!"
"Yep. Peleg Brown has writ to Gov. Johnson of California, askin' how to enforce it. An' ever'body in town is wonderin'."
"Wonderin' what?"
"Ef Sweden is goin' to declare war."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Some Hint.
"PAPA wanted to know whether you were a good business man," she confided.
"Have you any idea why he asked?" inquired the young man, who had been calling for a long time.
"I guess it was because you never talk business."—Judge.

She Wanted Too Much.
"YES," said the determined looking woman, "I might manage to hand you a bite to eat if you'll saw and chop a good pile of wood and bring in a few buckets of water and pick the weeds out of the garden and fix up the fence."
"Lady," replied Meandering Mike, "I'm only a hungry wayfarer; I ain't yer husband."
